What You Will Learn

Module 1. Principles of Management and Leadership in an Organisational Context

Great leadership starts with solid foundations - and this unit builds them.

Today's managers need more than experience; they need the knowledge, skills, and behaviours that empower them to lead confidently in any organisational setting. This dynamic unit is designed for learners who want to sharpen their professional edge, boost their personal effectiveness, and elevate their leadership impact.

You will dive into how organisational structure and governance shape the way leaders manage and motivate teams, gaining valuable insight into what truly drives success. Along the way, you will explore inspiring leadership theories, styles, and practical approaches that help create a culture built on trust, respect, and collaboration.

By the end, you will be equipped with the mindset and tools to lead with clarity, inspire your people, and contribute to a thriving, high performing organisation.

Module 2. Principles of developing, managing and leading individuals and teams to achieve success

Great managers don't just supervise teams - they inspire them to excel.

This unit unlocks one of the most powerful leadership capabilities: the ability to bring out the best in individuals and teams. Designed for managers who want to elevate their impact, it explores the essential skills needed to lead confidently in today's dynamic workplaces, whether teams are remote, in person, or multi disciplinary.

You will dive into both the theory and real world practice of building high performing teams, learning how to assess team strengths, identify future capability needs, and use recruitment, selection, and staff development to shape a team that thrives.

By the end, you will not just understand how to manage people - you will know how to support, motivate, and inspire them to exceed expectations, driving performance that transforms both your team and your organisation.
